The Sun Without Difficulty
icates Fletch Moore.

He is Left a Farm and $2,000 in Money by John Moore, Near Louisville.

"Is your Marshal Collins" inquired a ubiquitous colored man this morning as he doffed his hat and entered Marshal Collins' office at the city hall. He looked as if he had been awaiting that fierce dignitary's arrival since daylight.

"That's what I am," replied the officer. "What can I do for you?" "Two or more what you're lookin' for," was the rejoinder. "A white man showed me what I can tell you about him by my ole oote."

The marshal began to take a lively interest in the man at once. It was like a certain Fletcher Moore, a "son" whom the Sun yesterday mentioned as being wanted by Marshal Collins as the heir to a farm and some money left him by his former master. He has been a resident of Paducah for the past seven years, and bears a good reputation. He has never been in the law court, and in a few words told Marshal Collins all about himself.

When he was six years old he was taken to care for John Moore, an old Irishman living in near Louisville. He remained with him until he was 21, and made a faithful servant. Once he was accused of being wanted by Marshal Collins as the heir to a farm and some money left him by his former master. He has been a resident of Paducah for the past seven years, and bears a good reputation. He has never been in the law court, and in a few words told Marshal Collins all about himself.

He had heard nothing of old man's death until Marshal Collins apprised him of it, and that he had remembered him materially, leaving him a farm of 250 acres, and $2,000 in money.

Moore will likely not go up after it, as he is afraid to return to the neighborhood, but will probably place his interests in the hands of Marshal Collins to be looked after. He is now about 35 years old. The property left him is said to be very valuable.

THE SESSION THIS MORNING

Capt. Davis Not Given a Chance to Be Heard—His Bill Rejected.

OTHER BUSINESS TRANSACTED

The board of education met this morning at 10 o'clock in a adjourned session. President Lester in the chair, and Trustees Brooks, Allen, Watson, Rose, Smith, Ashbrook, Gibson and Terrell present.

The minutes were read at the meeting last night, at which there were only seven members present. After adjourning the minutes the board adjourned until this morning.

Superintendent McBrown made his monthly report verbally, stating that the repairs on all the school buildings were completed. The report was received and filed.

Chairman Rose stated that the committee on salaries and supplies had purchased some new desks, and also filters for all the school buildings and costers for every school room in the city, which are now in.

The committee announced that the contract for furnishing the schools had been let to J. J. Reed, of the general contractor & from the, at 6, 7 and 8 cents per bushel, agreeing to weigh in the city scales. All the other dealers declined to meet this requirement. The contract was ratified and the bond accepted.

The finance committee reported one account amounting to $557.67, which were allowed. Salaries amounting to $41.06 were allowed.

The treasurer's report was received and filed.

For fifteen dollars and twenty-five cents was allowed. Treasurer Terrell for money advanced to complete repairs on the new building, $1.00 was allowed. Hubbard and Reid for insurance.

Chairman Ashbrook, of the building committee, reported the purchase of the old buildings on West Broadway, by Mr. C. E. Jennings, for $225, who is not to move until the board grants permission. This will be given in new building is complete. The action of the committee was on the condition that the buildings be moved until Mr. Jennings is entitled to. The board declined to do any of the trees being cut.

Mr. Ashbrook explained that the trees had been made and nothing was said about the trees in it, and he was confident Mr. Jennings would not do any thing unnecessary.

He had heard nothing of old man's death until Marshal Collins apprised him of it, and that he had remembered him materially, leaving him a farm of 250 acres, and $2,000 in money.

Moore will likely not go up after it, as he is afraid to return to the neighborhood, but will probably place his interests in the hands of Marshal Collins to be looked after. He is now about 35 years old. The property left him is said to be very valuable.

LABOR MAY NOT SPEAK AT ALL

RENNES, France, Sept. 8.—The court room today was pervaded with an air of great solemnity when Demange began his final plea for Dreyfus. The prisoner looked unusually forlorn and pitifully wretched. Demange's speech was the effort of his life. Gestures were frequent. He spoke with intense effect, his voice vibrant with emotion. No other sound broke the silence of the court room. It was a scene which will live forever in the memory of those present when Demange read from the letters written by Dreyfus when he was prisoner on Devil's Island. They told of suffering which alternated between hope and despair, and there was hardly a dry eye in the court room. Dreyfus shed tears. The orator's emotion was contagious. Six of the judges sat with fixed expression, but the seventh, Major Profette, was visibly affected. At noon the court adjourned. Labor may make no speech, so a verdict will probably be given to-morrow.

RENNES, Sept. 8.—It is officially announced this afternoon that the court's verdict in the Dreyfus case will be announced tomorrow even if two sessions of the court are necessary.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 8, 1899.

Mr. Goebel has much to say to the people about the evils of trials, that he is bound of his soul to trust him. Of the trials they truly all seem to be a seal, and the Goebel proportion is not better than the balance.

John Paul is defying the law. To the surprise of England the Transvaal country is showing a strong disposition to fight as the drop of the hat. Evidently some one has stiffened the back bone of the old Boer president. War is daily expected now.

Goebel may, as he has intimated can be done with the election law is so proud to daddy stand the state of Kentucky, but he doesn't propose to be the thief. He will go into the country and get his tools to serve him as precinct commissioners or election officers and use them as cat's paws to rescue the electus ballot he will need. He will be only the receiver of the goods; the other fellows the stealers.

There was much suspense in the crowd which gathered around Mr. Goebel when he was in this city. The place hunter and the office holder was conspicuous by his majority, while the merchant and laborer were not to be seen. This is the case everywhere, even in the smaller towns the greeting committees being the court houses. The people who will do the voting and the class who have the state and country where patriotism is the demand are the Kenton king ringers.

In courteous but emphatic language, Mr. August Belmont gives our city to his "unqualified reputation of the truth" of his statements.

SUPREME ISSUE IN KENTUCKY

Louisville Commercial: It is a fact that the supreme issue before the people of Kentucky in this campaign is nonpartism. It will make no difference hereafter in this state who are Democrats, and who are Populists, and who are Prohibitionists, if the votes of all are not to be freely cast and honestly counted.

The disaffection of the people will be complete if an true responsible election commission may nullify a single vote without fear of punishment, for, if it so may nullify one vote, it may invalidate 100,000 votes with equal impunity. It is in and of partisan commissioners may take the right of suffrage into its hands in one county, similar bands may take the same action in every county in the state, and thus render all elections wholly profane formalities and impudent mockerys of popular government.

Those are the conditions under which elections are to be hereafter held in Kentucky if the Goebel election law is to stand. Only the intrepid manhood and the aroused indignation of the voters of the state give hope that the actual result of the election to follow this momentous campaign may be declared next November, for the state itself has been shorn of the power to protect suffrage and to guarantee the rights of citizenship. Mr. Goebel's partisan election commissioners may steal the governorship for him, if they will, and they will do so if they dare.

The single deterrent is the force of aroused public sentiment, the wrath of an angry and outraged people. There is no discipline for them in the law. The statute is moderate and carefully framed to protect Patton Democrats can think why it was that Mr. Goebel cut the speech he delivered here. They dont seem to think that if he was told to do anything the king by any of his henchmen who wanted to use it to dispose a charge that he would comply. These dunces forget that Mr. Goebel said he was in the gubernatorial contest, to win and that he adopted as he reluctantly admitted, any kind of means to secure the nomination, and that he would go farther and resort to more questionable acts to secure the election. With the wool pulled over their eyes they are just in shape to swallow any lung and when Mr. Goebel cut his speech he fully understood what he was doing, and when he did it he did not smile; that bland way he has.

Mr. Goebel said in his speech here that Mr. Sweeney had referred to him as a Pennsylvania Dutchman, and he used the expression with the view of making capital of it among the Germans of the city. Why didn't he use some of the other expressions or epithets Mr. Sweeney applied to him? Was it because he did not think he would profit by doing so or were they less pleasant to him? What he is or is not a Pennsylvania Dutchman? Does it profit or does it fit him more for the office he seeks and which he will never reach? No the whole use of the expression was the effort of a demagogue to carry favor and nothing else. Mr. Goebel should shun rather than attempt to "work" such a class of national忘恩负义, as any worthy man would. The Germans are not a cantish race, and Goebel only reflects upon them when he attempts to cast such a ro fection. Upon their merits and not their race, the German race is not inferior to any other. Mr. Goebel, will be a good man if he can get his state to do what he has done. He is a man of worth for governor, no matter his nationality, and this they will have.

Mr. Goebel, this is intended for you and your wife. Mr. Goebel, will you make that with them. High up in the hills will be such demagogic efforts as "printing himself that he is a Pennsylvania Dutchman?" What Kentuckians want, and all German residents of the state are just as true as the others, is a man of worth for governor, no matter his nationality, and this they will have.

Mr. Goebel, this is intended for you and your wife. It is from the intolable climatic and every word is sound sense and not that demagogic you know so well. "A professional wreck of legitimate business enterprise should not hold when men interested in the commercial and industrial welfare of Kentucky make war on his candidacy for governor."

GOEBEL'S MISSTATEMENT

Mr. Goebel in his speech here said that the assessments of the railroads in Kentucky had been reduced several million dollars under Republican administration, the statement being made to give the impression that this was an act of favoritism by the Republicans to corporations. It is just such false statements as this which is making the people come to the belief that the selected Democratic candidate for governor would not know the truth should he meet it in the road. Mr. Goebel knows, as does every other man in the state who knows anything at all, that the reduction in the assessment of the railroads was done by the Democratic administration, as this is what the people come to the belief that the Republicans did in conducting the election.

The resolutions adopted by the meeting declare that the war carried on by the United States, whose sovereignty is held over the Philippines is being waged by all the nations of the earth, to restore good order and give good government to the islands. It is a gross immoral assault on American principles of government and a cruel and brutal attempt to crush a weak people who are bravely contending for their natural and God-given right of self-government and condemned the action of President McKinley in conducting the most cowardly and unjustifiable war carried on in the history of the public, not even excepting the war carried on by President Lincoln for the preservation of the Union. The speakers and resolutions also affirmed the principles contained in the Chicago platform of 1896 and urged the re-nomination and election of William Jennings Bryan, so that free government may not perish from the face of the earth."

The Democratic party thus, in a gathering which must be regarded as in every sense representative, has given free reign once more to its latent sympathy with treason and disunion, and has presented its adherence to the cause of a traitor, simply because that traitor has been in revolt against the United States government. That party knows him to be a boaster, who, after inviting his countrymen to revolt in 1897, sold them out to Spain for $400,000,000.

It knows him to be a rascal who demanded $7,000,000 from the Spanish government as ransom for the Spanish prisoners in his power.

It knows him to be a pirate, who seized, looted, and burned a peaceable merchantman.

It knows him to be a murderer who has killed Americans and loyal soldiers.

It knows him to be an incendiary who sent emissaries into Manila that might burn and destroy the town and massacre all the Americans, Europeans and friendly natives whom they found there.

It knows him to be an assassin who dispatched confederates to the American camp with instructions to burn upon those who had received their pay.

It knows him to be an assassin who will remain where he is till the end of November, and the voters of the state tell him at the election that he will go back to his people and serve them longer in any acceptable way, but for Governor some other man is preferred.

John Paul is defying the law. To the surprise of England the Transvaal country is showing a strong disposition to fight as the drop of the hat. Evidently some one has stiffened the back bone of the old Boer president. War is daily expected now.

Goebel may, as he has intimated can be done with the election law is so proud to daddy stand the state of Kentucky, but he doesn't propose to be the thief. What he is or is not a Pennsylvania Dutchman? Does it profit or does it fit him more for the office he seeks and which he will never reach? No the whole use of the expression was the effort of a demagogue to carry favor and nothing else. Mr. Goebel should shun rather than attempt to "work" such a class of national忘恩负义, as any worthy man would. The Germans are not a cantish race, and Goebel only reflects upon them when he attempts to cast such a ro fection. Upon their merits and not their race, the German race is not inferior to any other. Mr. Goebel, will be a good man if he can get his state to do what he has done. He is a man of worth for governor, no matter his nationality, and this they will have.

GOEBEL'S MISSTATEMENT

Mr. Goebel in his speech here said that the assessments of the railroads in Kentucky had been reduced several million dollars under Republican administration, the statement being made to give the impression that this was an act of favoritism by the Republicans to corporations. It is just such false statements as this which is making the people come to the belief that the selected Democratic candidate for governor would not know the truth should he meet it in the road. Mr. Goebel knows, as does every other man in the state who knows anything at all, that the reduction in the assessment of the railroads was done by the Democratic administration, as this is what the people come to the belief that the Republicans did in conducting the election.

The resolutions adopted by the meeting declare that the war carried on by the United States, whose sovereignty is held over the Philippines is being waged by all the nations of the earth, to restore good order and give good government to the islands. It is a gross immoral assault on American principles of government and a cruel and brutal attempt to crush a weak people who are bravely contending for their natural and God-given right of self-government and condemned the action of President McKinley in conducting the election.

The Democratic party thus, in a gathering which must be regarded as in every sense representative, has given free reign once more to its latent sympathy with treason and disunion, and has presented its adherence to the cause of a traitor, simply because that traitor has been in revolt against the United States government. That party knows him to be a boaster, who, after inviting his countrymen to revolt in 1897, sold them out to Spain for $400,000,000.

It knows him to be a rascal who demanded $7,

Observations ....at Random.

It is too late to talk about brain-tying. Yeater park this year, but that what might be made into a pretty and attractive park has too much down grade for several hundred feet, and finished his desperate spirit by throwing himself off his wheel, seizing a child, which stood in the path of the oncoming train, and with the little one in his arms rolling down the embankment at the side of the track an instant before the train thundered by.

He disappeared in the excitement which followed the flocking of passengers to the spot and it was only by chance that his name became known. The boy, who was about 2 years old, wandered from home Sunday and, finding no cozy spot between the rails of the westbound track of the road, between this station and Nashua, inured himself by helping up little piles of sand. How long she sat there unobserved is not known, but the first one to catch sight of her was Fred Smith, the engineer, from the window of his locomotive.
The train was bound west and had left the Nassau station at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. With her back to the oncoming train the little one played on. The whistle shrieked, while the wheels of the engine ground on the track and sparks of fire flew along the rails. But the train was on a heavy downgrade and the speed was scarcely slackened.

Going in the same direction as the train was a bicyclist, pushing his wheel along a foot path which runs parallel with the track. The whistle attracted his attention, and, looking down the track, the child caught his attention. Without a moment's hesitation he sprang on his wheel and raced down the treacherous, sandy path.

The bicyclist was racing him, but without once looking back he pedaled on and, reaching the spot where the child sat, he threw his self to the ground, picked up the child and rolled over and over, free from the track and down the embankment.
He cleared the track the train passed over the spot where the little one had been sitting.

The train was finally stopped several lengths beyond the spot, and the trainmen and passengers jumped to the ground. They caught sight of the little one scurrying along a by-path into the woods, rubbing her eyes, while down the track was the cyclist, calmly brushing the dust off his clothes as he pushed the bicycle along the side path. He had reached the main road and pedaled away before any one thought to run after him.
His identity was made known as a result of an investigation by one of the passengers. The name of the child is not known.

ELEVEN IN GRAVES.

Nebraska Man Killed Father's Lynchers

CATALPA, Neb., Sept. 8.—A letter from Dawson City, Alaska, announces that Tom Browning had killed there the last of the eleven men who lynched his father in 1887.
Then he put a bullet through his brain, his lifework being complete.
In the early 80s Browning and his father located on a ranch in Holt County, Tom, then a man of 25, was generally liked, but his father began to be suspected of horse and cattle stealing. Neighbors grew so convinced of his guilt that they resolved to hang him. Tom was not home when the vigilance committee arrived, but he rode up as the noose was being adjusted. Though unarmed, he made a desperate attempt at rescue, but he was overpowered and held while his father was hanged.
When released his first act was to cut down the body and satisfy himself that life was extinct. Then, with hand raised to heaven and tears streaming down his face, he vowed never to rest until the last sinner was in his grave.

ALL OFF.

Paducah Will Have No Street Fair This Fall

The Paducah Street Fair Association met last night and adjourned sine die, after hearing a report from the committee sent to China to confer with the street fair people there.
The committee decided that the attractions desired could not be obtained here in time to hold the fair this fall, and the hottest time now at the disposal of the association made it almost impossible to get up anything that would be a credit to Paducah.

It was decided that a club should be organized to keep the matter in the minds of the people until spring, when active work will begin.

On motion Chairman Robertson declared the meeting adjourned sine die.

IN THE NEWSPAPERS.

An advertisement in a newspaper finds access to the homes of the people. It is not thrown into a waste paper basket or the fire as soon as its character is known as a majority of hand-bills and advertising pamphlets are. It is not ignored, or regarded with either aversion or contempt, as posters generally are. It comes to the readers with the authority behind it of the journal in which it appears, and it confronts many of them when they have the leisure to consider the terms.

ARCHITECT DAVIS

Lends Himself in a Card to the School Board.

The Paper Which is Not Allowed to Present at Today's Session.

PADUCAH, Ky., August 7, 1899.

To the President and Members of the Board of Education of the City of Paducah, Ky.:

Gentlemen: On a former occasion I came before your honorable board with a defense of my position on the construction of your new school building.

I am a former superintendent.

"The duty of superintendent is to make faithfully to enforce a lot of the conditions of the contract, and to furnish all necessary drawings and information required to properly illlustrate the design given, also to make estimates for the contractor of the amounts due them on the contract, in case estimating any material or work which are obligated parts of the work and when the building is completed to issue a cerificate to the contractor, which certificate, if unconditional, shall be an acceptance of the contract, and shall release him from all further responsibility on account of the work.

The owner being bound in a cause to recognize the acts of the superintendent."

In this connection permit me to call your attention to the fact that said superintendent furnished over one half of the brick for this building, thus passing upon his own material, furthermore he did not get brick from another yard—over in price than his own brick—thus compelling contractor to buy from him.

In my former communication I thought I had made matters plain enough for this board to make out a defense of my position in this case.

As you see, I have done my best to make out a defense of my position.

As you see, I have

done my best to make out a

defense of my position.

As you see, I have

done my best to make out a

defense of my position.
